

Nvolve's New Product Helps Manage Procedures

Procedure Manager™ is a fully hosted Procedure Management service that will allow you to remain 100% compliant at all times in the management of your standard operating procedures.

Following months of collaboration among the Nvolve team, industry specialists and clients within the Medical Devices and Pharmaceutical industry Nvolve have finally launched their new Procedure Manager™ product. Procedure Manager™ ensures that employee training plans are 100% accurate and up to date at all times and all training needs are completed, even as employees move job roles and as procedures are updated.

Speaking with Barry Harper, CEO of Nvolve, he stated that “the original idea of Procedure Manager came from an existing client within the Medical Devices remit who had an urgent need to prove compliance and wanted a much simpler process set in place in comparison to the mountain loads of excel sheets that they had to work through in order to prove compliance. We worked very closely with the client and with other companies in this highly regulated and audited industry and Procedure Manager™ can now be rolled out to other companies who have an immediate need to improve their operating procedures and compliance levels”.

Procedure Manager™ allows you to store and manage all procedures in one location and you can make this information available across your entire organisation. An audit trail is maintained within Procedure Manager™ allowing you to report on changes made to procedures therefore allowing you to keep track of old and “archived” procedures.

Procedure Manager™ can be integrated with the other Nvolve products to create a complete Compliance Training Platform.
