Nvolve Limited Wins Northern Ireland Seedcorn Regional Award

Nvolve Limited representing Northern Ireland has been named a regional winner of the third All-Island Seedcorn Business Competition 2005, and will go forward to compete for an overall prize of £100,000 in the grand final in December.

The event organised by Inter Trade Irelands Equity Network, the competition, which has a total prize fund of £155,000, received hundreds of expressions of interest from ventures all over Ireland and Nvolve representing NI was selected from a shortlist of six Northern Ireland companies.

Barry Fitzsimons, Vice Chairman of InterTradeIreland said, Nvolve is a very exciting young company and is indicative of the quality of up and coming enterprises in Northern Ireland. The final will be a close fought contest with all the winners walking away, we hope, with a strong sense of how to go forward and make provisions to secure future funding."

Barry Harper, Chief Executive of training software developer, Nvolve, said, "We're delighted to have been chosen as the regional winner of the Seedcorn competition for Northern Ireland. This competition has enabled us to showcase our company and our products to a panel of experienced investors and we are really looking forward to the final next month"
